Contemporary Door Handles

Boutique Manufacturer of Luxury Door, Cabinet & Window Hardware

For decades, Brassart has specialised in the design and manufacture of contemporary solid brass door hardware for some of the most discerning residential and architectural projects around the world. Our products are perfectly suited for private residences, boutique hotels, high-end hospitality environments and many other design-led interiors where quality, material integrity, and refined design are essential.

Established in England in 1935, Brassart combines traditional British craftsmanship with modern manufacturing techniques to produce exceptional door hardware. Each piece is crafted from solid brass, chosen for its strength, longevity and distinctive character, and designed to elevate contemporary architecture and interior design.

This brochure gives an overview of our collection of contemporary door handles, where every piece is precision-engineered and hand finished to ensure exceptional quality, durability, and tactile performance. Designed, manufactured, finished and assembled in the UK, our door handles reflect generations of specialist expertise and a commitment to producing architectural hardware of the highest standard.

Our contemporary collections are defined by clean lines, balanced proportions, and carefully considered detailing. Each style can be tailored to suit any setting; from customisable back-plates which can feature a key way or bathroom lock, to individual roses which can be paired with a matching separate key way or bathroom lock in the same style.

Our aim is simple: to create contemporary solid brass door knobs made in the UK that combine enduring materials, precision engineering, and understated design.
